PERSONAL STATEMENT

In 1998, I held a bachelor's degree in English Education from Chongqing Technology and Business University (formerly Yuzhou University). In 2003, I commenced postgraduate studies at Southwest University of Political Science and Law, specializing in International Economic Law.

Since 2012, I have focused on China-Africa investment and trade, conducting in-depth research on the legal frameworks governing investment and trade in major Sub-Saharan African economies, including Kenya, Ethiopia, Uganda, Tanzania, Zambia, Zimbabwe and South Africa.

I have handled cross-border investment projects and trade dispute resolution projects across North, East, Southern, and West Africa, assisting clients in addressing critical challenges in M&A and dispute resolution to protect their rights and interests.
